ETHIOPIA RULER WILL ARBITRATE

Tells League Envoy To Accept Proposal for Renewal of Discussions.

INTERPRETATIONS VARY

Move To Renew Debate Seen Giving Il Duce Time To Prepare for War

By The Associated Press

ADDIS ABABA Aug 3 Emperor Haile Selassie announced this afternoon I have instructed my delegate to Geneva to accept the league's proposals designed to settle the quarrel with Italy

Despite the instructions from Haile Selassie Prof Gaston Jeze Ethiopia's representative on the conciliation commission outlined that country's objections to the new plan for handling the dispute in a talk with Premier Laval

Oppose Postponement

It was understood that Jeze expressed his personal disappointment at any postponement of an attempt to settle the entire controversy

Under the redrafted plan of procedure the dispute would be back in the lap of the league in another month

League opinion was divided on the agreement Some quarters termed it capitulation to Mussolini for it gives him more time to prepare for war if that is what he wants

Others believe it was a shrewd move to keep Italy within the league machinery for the moment because it refrained from furnishing Mussolini a protest for bolting the league

In a front page editorial today however the Journal Des Nations of Geneva charges Britain with having backed down to Mussolini on all points which might more specifically constitute defense of the league

With the adoption of a three point agreement by France Italy and Great Britain calling for resumption of arbitration proceedings Anthony Eden Britain's minister for League of Nations affairs emphasized that the dispute will be up

PWA Plan Offers City $365,000 Building for $200,750 Investment

Bond Issue Approval Urged To Make Federal Aid Possible

Proposal Seen as Help to Employment and Community Progress

Editor's note—Marion voters who go to the primary election Tuesday Aug 13 will vote on two special bond issues—one to raise funds for a new city building and auditorium and the other for a sewer extension program The Star in order to give voters an understanding of the issues is printing two articles dealing with the proposals the last on the city building appearing below

BY W T BUCHANAN
City Editor Marion Star

Whether Marion residents are willing to spend $200 750 to obtain a new city hall and auditorium to cost not more than $365 000 is a question to be decided at the primary election Tuesday Aug 13

On that date voters will pass judgment on a bond issue of $200 750 which if authorized would provide the city's share of the cost of the building the remaining $164 250 to come from the federal government as a PWA grant

PWA officials in Columbus now have before them the city's application for such a grant The application was given tentative approval in order that Marion officials could go to the voters with a proposal for a bond issue to raise 55 per cent of the total cost of a building to be erected on the city lot at Church and Prospect streets

If 65 per cent of the Marion voters cast ballots favoring the bond issue the application for the grant will be forwarded to federal officials in Washington D C There final decision will rest as to whether the project is a worthy and feasible one If it meets with favor of federal officials the grant of $164 250 will be allowed and construction of the building will be carried forward Failure of the bond issue to pass however will kill the project where it now stands

Program of Financing

The $200 750 bond issue would be retired over a period of 25 years with the first payments falling due in March next year For the first four years the bonds would be retired at the rate of $10 000 a year with $8 000 falling due each year after 1940.

County Auditor Harry V Mo ts has estimated that the bonds would add an average of 43 hundredths of a mill to the city tax rate annually over the 25 year period This would be 43 cents on each $1 000 of valuation A property owner paying taxes on a house valued at $5 000 would pay on an average of $1 29 each year to retire the bonds This rate however would not be uniform because of the greater number of bonds falling due in the first four years and because of the larger interest payments in the early course of the issue

The additional tax for the first year would be 60 hundredths of a mill For the next three years it would be 70 hundredths dropping back to 60 hundredths in 1940 From then on the rate would show a gradual decrease until it reached a low of 27 hundredths for the last year

$125 000 for Wages

Officials at this stage are unable to make an estimate of the number of men who would be given employment on the building It is estimated however that of the total cost $125 000 would go for labor This does not include wages paid those engaged in the manufacture of materials It is also estimated that construction of the building would give employment to practically all skilled craftsmen in Marion including carpenters masons cement finishers plumbers electricians roofing and sheet

House-to-House Canvass Set To Start Monday

Civic Organizations Unite in Drive for City Hall Bond Issue

Five civic organizations will start Monday to make a house to house canvass of Marion homes to acquaint voters with the proposed $200 750 city hall bond issue to be submitted to the people at the Aug 13 primary This was decided last night at a meeting of the executive board of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs and representatives of four other organizations at the Y M C A

The other groups which will join with the Women's clubs in circulating publicity literature and making pleas to voters to support the bond issue are the Marion Lecture Recital club the Marion Civic orchestra the Canto club and the Federation of Catholic Women

The literature in the form of circulars explaining why the supporters of the bond issue feel it should be supported by voters and automobile and window stickers is being prepared by the Junior Chamber of Commerce

Those who met with the Women's clubs executive board last night were Mrs Glen Penry of the Marion Lecture Recital club Miss Lillian Lutz of the Civic orchestra John F Lacey of the Canto club and Mrs L A Axe of the Federation of Catholic Women The group will meet at the Y M C A at 9 a m Tuesday to divide the city into territories and assign them to the various clubs for canvass which is to be started immediately following the meeting

WOMAN ADMITS KILLING IN CLEVELAND "HEX" CASE

Wife and Husband Jailed After Slaying Which They Say Was To End Spell of Witchcraft.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND O, Aug. 3—For Samuel and Matilda Waldman years of worry over an obsession that they were being "hexed" by Mrs. Isadore Cooper were at an end today Mrs. Cooper, with two bullets in her body, was dead. The Waldmans were in jail.

Police, holding the 46-year-old Mrs. Waldman on a charge of first degree murder, said she freely admitted she fired the shots to end the spell of witchcraft which she and her husband believed Mrs Cooper held over them.

Waldman was held for an examination of his mentality He was in the office of Police Prosecutor William H Schneider at the time of the slaying yesterday, protesting to the prosecutor and Cooper that Cooper's wife, Ida, was practicing "fire magic and black magic" against him and his wife.

Waldman told the official that "at night, balls of flaming fire would come rolling into our house strike us on the legs and roll up our chests and heads" He exhibited scars which he said was caused by the "balls [illegible]

MISSING BOY FOUND IN BARN AT GALION

Said He Ran Away "Because He Didn't Keep a Promise to His Mother."

Special to The Star

GALION, O Aug 3—Because he didn't keep a promise to his mother, Wayne Edwin Greenfield, 12, ran away from home Thursday night he told Policeman Charles Ferrall, who found him sound asleep at midnight last night in a barn a short distance from the police station.

He told policeman that he had slept in the barn on Thursday night, also. The barn, which is at the rear of the Campbell meat market on Harding Highway-E, is two blocks from the square and about half a block from the boy's house

The police search was aided by the boy's father, S. C. Greenfield of Milford Center, who came to Galion yesterday After being questioned by police the boy was taken home to his mother to spend the rest of the night in his own bed.

A note he left Thursday for his mother, stated that he was going out to pick berries. His mother works in a Galion factory.

UPHOLD ORDER TO REINSTATE OUSTED CHIEF

Two Judges Vote To Sustain Lower Court, One Favors Reversal

MAY RETURN NEXT WEEK

Mayor Bolin Uncertain Regarding Appeal, But Indicates There'll Be None

The third district court of appeals in a decision today upheld the order of the common pleas court reinstating William F Marks as Marion chief of police

The three judges voted two to one to uphold the lower court Judge William Klinger of Lima voting to reverse with Judges Charles A Guernsey of Fostoria and Phil M Crow of Kenton voting to sustain

Provided Mayor Bolin does not move to carry the case to the Ohio supreme court Marks will be eligible to return to his post some time next week It was on Bolin's order that Marks was dismissed about a year ago

The court's decision will become official and effective as soon as a journal entry is prepared and approved by the judges Howard Guthery of the law firm of Guthery Strelitz & Guthery who represented Marks said today that he will prepare the journal entry early next week probably not later than Wednesday

When asked this morning if he knew of any plan to appeal the decision Mayor Bolin said he was of the opinion that the case would not be taken to the supreme court The mayor said however that this was his immediate reaction and not necessarily a definite decision

Necessary Steps for Appeal

If the case should be carried to the supreme court the mayor must immediately ask for a stay of execution to permit time for the appeal This appeal must be filed within 30 days from the date of the decision which is Aug 3

The decision received here this morning from the appeals court is as follows

Find no error Judgment affirmed at cost of plaintiff in error Remanded for execution Exceptions saved

On the sole assignment of error namely that the decision of the common pleas court is against the weight of the evidence it need only be said that the substantial evidence contained in the bill of exceptions is in such conflict as to require affirmance of judgment of said decision under the universal rule of Ohio 2 Ohio Jurisprudence 745 to 758

Such being the condition of the record under review it is unnecessary to decide or comment on whether if a decision sustaining the charges or any of them had been made it would have been upheld by this court

Klinger J dissents being of the opinion that judgment should be reversed

In interpreting the decision attorneys interested in the case explained that the judges concerned themselves only with the testimony given in the lower court Finding as they set forth in their decision that the evidence was in conflict they followed the "universal rule of court procedure and affirmed the lower court This rule attorneys explained is based on the theory that the trial judge is better able to weigh the value of conflicting testimony than the appellate judges from the written record. The reference "2 Ohio Jurisprudence 745 to 758" is a citation of rules governing court procedure and covering this point

As the decision further sets forth the judges did not consider what action they would have taken had the lower court refused to reinstate Marks

Return of Marks to his old position as chief will necessitate some changes in the present set up of

Really on Square

(Will Rogers Special)

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Aug. 3 —Well, haven't got much time to do any editorializing today. Tomorrow (Saturday) the big world's championship cowboy contest starts, and I am busy setting on the fence blathering with 'em (which is about all I can do along cowboy sports line).

Some of 'em are right from my home range in Oklahoma, and I think learned to rope on some of my stock. It's like baseball. It's a sport you can attend and know that it's not "in the bag." You can't put a calf or bucking horse in a bag. It's not like prize fighting or wrestling, where the loser gets a big slice, too. Nobody is paid a nickel but the winners. Depression hit everything but horseback riding. There was never as many people riding, and interested in ranch life, but I must get back to my blathering.

Yours,
Will Rogers.

MARIONITE IS ADDED TO FRESHMAN CLASS

Ohio State Expects Largest Beginning Group in Its History.

Another Marionite has been admitted into what will probably prove to be the largest freshman class ever to enter Ohio State university. Adolph P. Wagner of 174 West Center street is the latest student from Marion to register for the fall term. Mr. Wagner will take an arts course and Miss Lorna M. MacPherson of Galena also entering this fall will study social administration.

Admissions to the university's beginning class are running 15 per cent ahead of last year university officials said today. Last year the total university enrollment for all classes showed a net gain of 1,037 students over the previous year. Enrollment for 1934 35 was 13 920 as compared with 12 488 for the year 1933-34.

Marion county sent a total of 102 students to Ohio State last year. This was a gain of 13 students over the 1933-34 number. Marion county, along with Crawford, Delaware, Morrow Union and Wyandot, was one of the 69 Ohio counties to send more students to Ohio State last year than they did in 1933-34. Hardin county was one of the 14 counties to send fewer students last year. Their figure dropped from 68 in 1933-34 to 61 last year.

Five more students from nearby counties are now attending the second term of the summer quarter at the university. They are Miss Maxine M Elliott and Howard G. Lindeman of West Mansfield, Frank H. Lowry of Upper Sandusky, Miss Dorothy E. Boxwell of Green Camp and Aden F. Huber of De Graff. Other summer quarter students were reported previously.

MARSEILLES MAN DIRECTING PROJECTS

New Instructor in Charge of Pig Litter Development

Special to The Star

MARSEILLES, Aug. 3.—You can't keep a hog from eating, but Donald Foster, new Marseilles agriculture teacher, is instructing five vocational agriculture pupils in how to get more weight on the hogs from the amount of feed they put out.

Mr. Foster is supervising a bi-weekly feeding and weighing survey program of the swine projects on which the pupils are keeping a record. Thus far he has found the daily gain per pig varies in the litters from .694 pounds to 1.391 pounds.

The litters of Justice Wolford and John Heckathorn, included in the weighing program, are entered in the state ton litter contest. Heckathorn in 1933 fed one of the first officially recorded ton litters in Wyandot county. Both boys are said by Mr. Foster to have good possibilities this year to feed out their litters to the total weight of one ton in the six weeks alloted time from farrowing.

The instructor said his main objective is to aid the boys in becoming proficient future farmers, and that the project work in which each boy is engaged will be the "acid test" of his class room instruction.

LAW TO BENEFIT MORROW COUNTY

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 3—Morrow county rural property owners will benefit more from the Armbruster law, which cancels special road assessments, than any other county in this district, figures released by Auditor Harold Taylor disclose.

There are now 85 roads in the county on which special assessments are being paid. The total bonds outstanding amount to $215,668.59 and the landowners share is over one-half of the total.

The auditor has prepared the list for the use of the commissioners in issuing the bonds which are to be sold to pay off the assessments. These bonds will be retired from 10 per cent set aside from the auto license plate receipts of the county annually.

SWIMMER FORMER GALION RESIDENT

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 3—William Barker, 25, of Columbus, who swam the 15 miles from Camp Perry to Put-in-Bay Wednesday night, and was found in a state of collapse afterwards by the lighthouse keeper, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Barker, former Galion residents.

Barker is well known here and is a national guardsman in training at the camp. Barker had informed no one that he was making the swim. He was undaunted by the electrical storm which lashed Lake Erie, and battled cold and fatigue for 14 hours to swim the 15 miles.

CALIFORNIANS LYNCH SUSPECT

Man Jailed in Slaying of Police Chief Seized by Mob and Hanged.

DEPUTY HELD, THEN FREED

Crime Believed Plotted by Gang at Slain Man's Funeral Yesterday.

By The Associated Press

YREKA, Calif., Aug 3—A mob of [illegible] masked men dragged C. L. Johnson, 24, from the county jail here early today and lynched him for the slaying of Chief of Police F. R. Daw of Dunsmuir, Calif.

The lone deputy sheriff on duty at the county jail was kidnaped and a restaurant man was held prisoner [illegible] after Johnson, a white man, was hanged from a pine tree three miles south of Yreka.

He was fully dressed except for his shoes when he was cut from the jail cell [illegible] he was cut down by sheriff's officers at 6 a. m., two hours after the mob left his body dangling from the tree.

12 Hours After Funeral

The young man, a confessed robber from Reno, Nev., and Klamath Falls, Ore., was taken from his cell exactly 12 hours after the funeral of the police officer he was accused of killing last Monday morning.

"I suppose they talked it over at the funeral," said Deputy Sheriff Joe Clark, "and got up the mob."

Johnson was brought to Yreka earlier in the week when lynch talk was first heard in Dunsmuir, 49 miles south of here.

The men drove to the county jail in automobiles about 1:30 a. m., and promptly seized Fleming Martin, a restaurant employe who passed the jail on his way home, and held him prisoner until after the lynching. He estimated the crowd numbered 50.

Wanted To Get Keys

Quickly approaching the jail, they rang the night bell. When Deputy Sheriff Martin Lange answered, they covered him with pistols, overpowered him, bound him hand and foot and after failing to get the keys from him, carried him into the country where they turned him loose barefooted.

They smashed doors and ransacked the jail before finding the keys to Johnson's first floor cell.

"There wasn't much of a fuss" when they burst into Johnson's cell and overpowered him, said three trustees, the only other prisoners, were on the ground floor.

"Bells had been ringing all night," said Lange, "telephone bells and teletype bells, so I didn't think much of it when the little bell (to the outer door) rang.

Faced By Gun

"I opened the door and the first thing I saw was a gun.

"Then they shoved the door open and poked guns all over me. They bound me with ropes and kidnaped me.

"They bound my wrists first, they had a lot of quarter-inch rope and they twisted and yanked and jerked me around with that. They wanted me to tell where the keys were.

"I wouldn't tell. I never told where the keys were.

"They found the keys somewhere around here but I was out in the country then. They took me nine miles out in the country and turned me lose in my barefeet.

"I went to half a dozen houses and knocked but none of them would get up. They were sure sore, none of them would help me.

"I had a police whistle and went back to the highway and blew that and stopped a car.

"They all wore masks. They wore white handkerchiefs that covered all the lower part of their faces.

"And they sure had plenty of guns."

Recognizes One of Them

Clarke said he recognized one of the men in the mob as a Dunsmuir citizen.

"I don't think there's much chance of getting any of that mob," said Under Sheriff W. J. Nelion, who is in charge of the office during the illness of Sheriff W. G. Chadler.

Johnson was lynched for a slaying he insisted he did not commit. Authorities said he admitted he was one of two suspected robbers halted early Monday morning by Chief Daw and Traffic Officer George Malone. Officers said he named Robert Miller, 30, as the killer and the man who wounded Malone. Miller still is a fugitive and was the object of the most intensive manhunt this section of northern California has known.

Johnson was caught about an hour after the killing and readily admitted participation in the shooting and the robbery a few hours earlier.

VOTE FRAUD SUSPECT UP BEFORE COURT

Charged With Illegally Preparing Referendum Petitions on Amendments.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 3—A man charged with illegally preparing referendum petitions on three proposed constitutional amendments faced a court hearing today while police sought four of his companions.

Oliver W. Gillette, 34, was to appear in police court to answer a charge of violating the general code of Ohio by signing the name of another person, without his consent, on an official petition.

Franklin county (Columbus) Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins said Gillette confessed directing 11 young people to copy names from directories of various Ohio cities on the petitions.

Hoskins ordered the arrest of three men and a woman. No charges have been filed against them.

He believed the quartet to be somewhere in southern Ohio in the interests of the Ohio Association for Tax Reduction. Gillette is secretary of the organization.

Police and agents of Secretary of State George S. Myers' office arrested Gillette Thursday and confiscated a number of petitions in a raid on a hotel here.

Gillette, who first charged a "frame up," faces a fine of $100 to $1,000 or a one to three year term in Ohio penitentiary or both if convicted on the charge.

The petitions sought to place on the ballot proposals to exempt real estate and personal property from taxation and [illegible] a gross income tax, to limit the cost of auto tags to $1 for the life of a car and to tax chain stores.

ing coherent could be obtained from him, Geissler said, and he repeatedly said he wanted to die because he could see nothing in the future.

Sheriff Miller said Sullivan had made no threats of suicide during the brief time he has been held in the jail.

Three Others Sought.

Three other transients are being sought by authorities and Mr. Eichelberger said he felt confident two of the three would be apprehended early next week. The transient bureau director said the foodstuffs and supplies had been traded for liquor and that the two women admitted they had accepted the goods in trade for bootleg liquor.

He said the supplies began to disappear five weeks ago. He watched the disappearances carefully and after a secret investigation he was able to locate the source of the trouble, he said. Sullivan and the other three implicated were all members of the direct cash relief transient staff of the local bureau. Sullivan was first chef and the others were employed in other capacities.

The four men were all checked out of the local bureau early this week. Mr. Eichelberger said they were released because of intoxication, but that he had the addresses to which they all said they were going. After the four had left a more open examination was made and search warrants were sworn out for the residences of the two women.

Stolen Goods Found.

Searches Wednesday morning revealed approximately $50 worth of the stolen goods Mr. Eichelberger says, and the two women were taken into custody by police. At Mrs. Lyles' residence authorities found three sheets, two pillow cases and one nightgown identified as part of the federal property. At Mrs. Dominy's home they found three packages of bran, three sheets, two pair of pants and six large bags of coffee.

Federal authorities in Toledo were notified of the apprehension of the two women immediately and Thursday morning a department of justice investigator arrived from Toledo to look into the case.

At 2 a. m. Thursday Sullivan appeared at the transient bureau. He had apparently heard that he was being sought and said he returned because he "didn't want to be hunted the rest of his life." He was taken to city prison immediately and this morning he admitted to the department of justice agent that he was guilty of taking some of the goods, Mr. Eichelberger said.

Listed as Minor Offenses

Prosecutor Davis said the two women probably would not be prosecuted by federal agents at all because the stolen property found in their possession was not of sufficient value to class their cases as a major offense. "Any property stolen or stolen property received must be valued in excess of $35 to classify the case as a crime," Mr. Davis said.

Mr. Eichelberger said he is confident of recovering $100 more worth of the stolen goods if the other suspects are captured next week as expected.

"SNOOTIEST" SOCIETY FORMED IN ENGLAND

Organized To Assure People Most Pleasant "Smells" Possible.

By International News Service

LONDON—England's snootiest group—the Smell society—has just been formed.

Its founder is Ambrose E. Appelbe, a young London solicitor who prefers the smell of honeysuckle to gasoline fumes and wants to save the rapidly deteriorating sense of smell before it is too late.

He has studied science and the psychology of every kind of smell, as well as the aesthetics of smells, and in his opinion the three best smells are—a good red rose, stock at night, and roast beef.

"I see the day coming," Appelbe said in an interview, "when we shall be able to have a symphony of smells. That is to say, we shall sit in a room, press a button, and various scents will be wafted in upon us.

"That necessitates great refinement of smells and the ability to get rid of the smell quickly. At present a smell is like a note of music—you can't stop it vibrating.

"I think it is a pity," he added, "that some of the best incenses have been given up in church. They can be very pleasant."

Appelbe pointed out that he did not deprecate the more materialistic smells, such as food. He said:

"The smell of a good dinner is the most important smell of civilization. Half the effect of a meal aesthetically, is the smell.

"We judge good things and bad things by their smell, and one of the most appalling consequences of civilization is that some of the most deadly fumes have no smell. Carbon monoxide gas, by itself, is practically odorless—but very perilous.

"Even the word 'smell' seems to be depreciating in its status in the English language and is coming to denote very largely a bad smell, which shows we are neglecting that side of it that is good. For that reason I am calling the Society just — The Smell Society."

Appelbe's aim is to make Englishmen smell conscious. Lord Listowel, famous philosopher, is vice president of the society.

LOAN CERTIFICATES ORDERED RETURNED

CADIZ, O., Aug. 3—Judge O. [illegible] ordered George A. Hurley of [illegible] yesterday to return to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Orr of Freeport $22?? in building and loan certificates. The Orrs said they turned the certificates over to C. D. McDermott and Edward Davis, June [illegible] who represented themselves as agents for the National Refunding Co. of Cleveland. The farm couple said they were told building and loan associations were destined to go under. Hurley said he acted only as trustee and held the certificates for McDermott and Davis, who he said are missing. Hurley said he wanted to return the papers.

OUSTED CHIEF WINS IN APPEALS COURT

the force. According to W. H. Sams, safety director, the three members of the force to be affected are E. C. Mattan, who has served as chief since Marks' removal; Fred Morton, acting day captain, and Lewis Cunningham, patrolman and last member to be added to the force.

Mattan will be returned to a captaincy automatically placing Morton back on the street as a patrolman, Sams said. Whether Cunningham will be retained on the force will depend on action by city council to provide for an additional patrolman, according to the safety director.

The decision today writes another chapter in the career of Marks as head of the Marion police force.

Marks was first named to the position by former Mayor L. Don Jones about Jan. 1, 1931. Ninety days later Jones ordered Marks' removal on the grounds that he had not demonstrated sufficient ability to retain the post. The chief was subsequently reinstated by the city civil service commission.

Marks' second suspension came Aug. 8, 1934, this time by Mayor Rohn. Charging that Marks had failed to enforce laws against bootlegging and disorderly houses, the mayor removed him from office at the climax of a series of liquor raids. The liquor raids were organized by the mayor and conducted without the aid or knowledge of Marks.

Board Upholds Dismissal

Shortly afterward Marks asked for a hearing before the city civil service commission. This board, however, upheld his dismissal.

The deposed chief's next step was to carry the case to the common pleas court. Judge F. LeRoy Allen of Union county was assigned to hear the testimony.

After a hearing requiring several days Judge Allen took the case under advisement and on Jan. 8, 1935, handed down his decision ordering Marks' reinstatement. In his written decision Judge Allen reviewed the purpose of the civil service laws as it applied to the Marks case. He held that under the law the charges against Marks and the weight of the evidence did not warrant his removal.

This decision was carried by the mayor to the court of appeals which led to the decision this morning.

In its action today the district court assessed the charges in the case against the city.

Marks, attorneys explained, is entitled to his salary for the last year, less any amount he has earned in other endeavor. He has been employed part time in the Harrold Bros. garage on Campbell street as an automobile mechanic.

Safety Director Sams said today he did not know what provisions would be made to pay Marks any back salary he might claim.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—The preponderantly Democratic house disagreed with President Roosevelt today on a number of important points involved in the $270,000,000 tax bill.

First it narrowed from 6 to 1 per cent the graduated tax on corporation incomes.

Then it agreed, against the President's wishes, that corporations should be allowed to make tax-free charitable donations.

It also voted 45 to 12 against the President's idea of levying a new tax on dividends paid by one corporation to another.

Earlier, it had approved new increased surtaxes on all individual incomes over $50,000.

Rep. McFarlane, Democrat of Texas, offered an amendment to levy a 2 per cent tax on intercorporate dividends.

"I am not at liberty to quote the President," he said. "But I have talked with the President and he is heartily in favor of this amendment—in favor of this tax on corporation dividends."

Only half a dozen Democrats joined him in voting for the amendment, which was rejected 65 to 12.

SELASSIE ACCEPTS LEAGUE PROPOSAL

for review by the league council next month.

"We insisted upon, and achieved, the understanding," Eden said in discussing the agreement, "that whatever happens the league council will meet again Sept. 4, to 'examine' the entire Italo-Ethiopian conflict."

If the controversy is settled before hand, under the plan of arbitration agreed upon by the three powers last night that will be "well and good," Eden said, but whether the impending parley succeeds or collapses, the league council will consider the situation and decide what shall be done.

Start Peace Machinery

The three points agreed upon by the powers are:

1. Resumption of arbitration by setting in action peace machinery of the Italo-Ethiopian friendship treaty of 1928. A fifth, neutral member will be added to the conciliation commission.

2. England, France and Italy will confer soon in France to consider possibilities of a broad political settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

3. The League of Nations council will consider the entire subject, Sept. 4.

seized and held Mrs. Waldman until detectives arrived. Then she told her story to the officers and newspapermen.

"At 2 p. m. I lay down on the bed and some power told me I was in great danger, so I got my husband's gun and went to the Cooper store," she said.

"'I'm Waldman's wife,' I told Mrs. Cooper.

"'Oh, yes, you're the wife of the fellow who thinks I've put the witch on him,'" Mrs. Waldman said Mrs. Cooper replied.

Mrs. Waldman said she then fired three shots as Mrs. Cooper came toward her.

"I feel better now," Police Sergeant Stephen Tozzer said Mrs. Waldman added at the end of her story. "I'm rejuvenated."

Tozzer said Mrs. Waldman earlier had attempted unsuccessfully to get Mrs. Cooper to sign a note "releasing" the Waldmans from witchcraft.

FATHER ASKS RELEASE OF MURDER SUSPECT

Writ of Habeas Corpus Filed for Man Held in Slaying of Doctor.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug 3—J. Andy Zenge, lanky Missouri dairyman, turned to the courts today in an attempt to obtain freedom for his son Mandeville, held in the emasculation slaying of Dr. Walter J. Bauer.

The father filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the criminal court, naming police and prosecutors as defendants and asking that Zenge, rangy 26-year-old carpenter, be "booked or released forthwith."

Acting Chief Justice John C. Lewe made the writ returnable at 10 a. m. Monday, over the objection of Attorney Joseph Green, retained by the elder Zenge.

Charles S. Dougherty, assistant state's attorney, argued against making the writ returnable forthwith and declared that he had important witnesses coming in later in the day. He requested the delay until Monday.

Dougherty declared his investigation showed young Zenge left his home in Canton, Mo., last week, came to Chicago and then proceeded to Ann Arbor, Mich. It was in Ann Arbor that Bauer was kidnapped last Tuesday.

THREE SOVIET FLIERS OVER ROOF OF WORLD

first important stage of the journey from Moscow to the Barents sea, in eight hours and 22 minutes for the approximate 900 miles.

Thus the average speed was about 105 miles an hour.

If Pilot Levaneffsky should continue his speed to the open sea he would reach the north pole about 4 a. m. Sunday Moscow time. (9 p. m. Marion time.)

May See New Land

The only land the fliers will sight from now until they reach the American continent will be Franzjoseland unless they discover new territory in the unexplored Arctic sea.

The plane was reported humming perfectly and the fliers apparently were in good spirits.

If their present speed is continued they may be expected to reach San Francisco shortly before dawn Monday.

(The Canadian press estimated the plane would reach Canadian territory—the north coast of Prince Patrick Island—about 5 a. m. Marion time Sunday.) From there they were expected to roughly follow the 120th Meridian south over Banks Island reaching the Canadian mainland in the vicinity of Darnley bay somewhat before noon Sunday.

Vancouver First City

Their first large city would be Vancouver which they should reach not long after Sunday midnight.

Levaneffsky and Co-Pilot Baidukoff were taking turns at the stick. The well heated cabin permitted the airmen to wear ordinary summer flying togs but they carried fur clothing for emergency use.

After the fliers took off Ambassador William C. Bullitt of the United States told the Russian press: "As the representative of a pioneer nation I salute the heroic Levaneffsky who I hope will blaze a new trail that will serve to draw together the people of the United States and the Soviet nation."

Levaneffsky lifted the plane weighted with six tons of gasoline off on its projected non-stop flight in a driving rain.

DIVORCE BUSINESS IS DULL AT RENO

By International News Service

RENO, Nev.—Reno is mourning because of "the dull season."

The number of divorces filed in June did not compare with figures of June 1934 and the divorce colony residents observed, is not as large as usual.

However, others said that "plenty" of the unhappily married [illegible] were arriving by airplane, train and automobile, and that they were seeking seclusion at nearby lake resorts and "dude ranches" for their six-weeks "vacations."

EASTERN OHIO FOLK FLEE RAGING FLOOD

from the high school and grade school buildings. The first floors and basements of both structures were flooded.

Truck Turned Over

A one-ton truck, owned by Joseph Morelli, flipped over on its side like a feather.

Dillonvale is about six miles south of Steubenville. In two suburban villages all the homes stood in water up to the second floors.

The cloudburst flooded homes in Steubenville, Wellsburg, Follansbee and Weirton, W. Va. It submerged two railroad tunnels and railroad officials said they did not expect the tracks to be cleared until Sunday.

The rain, which fell for three hours, was but one of numerous heavy thunderstorms that struck Ohio following a day in which temperatures rose to record marks for the season.

Fisher's Run creek in the south end of Steubenville broke its banks and sent raging water over the paralleling Lincoln avenue, one of Steubenville's principal streets. Six foot bridges and guard rails along Lincoln avenue were swept away.

Other Towns Hit

On Hillside street minor landslides occurred, reports received here were that considerable damage was caused in the three West Virginia towns across the Ohio river.

The high water subsided almost as soon as the rain ceased. Large sewers and the Ohio river carried it away.

Railroad officials were forced to reroute all Pennsylvania line trains by way of Orrville, but said they expected to restore usual service later in the day.

Police said that cows, pigs and chickens were carried away by the flood in some of the low-lying sections.

Heavy thunderstorms hit many other parts of the state during the night, and at Cleveland an unidentified fisherman drowned when his boat capsized on Lake Erie. Two companions were rescued.

At Cleveland there was an inch of rainfall in less than 20 minutes. Traffic was paralyzed for an hour.

The rain flooded dozens of stores on Cleveland's south side, with damage of several thousand dollars. Sand washed over street car tracks in Cleveland Heights causing the derailment of a street car but none of its passengers was reported injured.

Ten Akron houses were struck by lightning, trees were uprooted and windows blown out. Motorists were stranded and many basements flooded.

Temperature Here Near Record Mark

After the mercury climbed to a peak one degree short of the record for the year in Marion yesterday and continued to hold its high level today, people here welcomed the forecast that cooler weather is in store for Sunday.

The temperature soared yesterday to 93, just short of the record high of 94, Dr. E. H. Raffensperger, official weather observer, reported this morning. The minimum for the 24-hour period ending at 5 a. m. today was 74 he said. Corresponding high and low last year were 90 and 57.

Brief showers late yesterday afternoon and at 10 last night brought Marion .12 of an inch of rain, but little relief from the heat. Considerable wind accompanied the afternoon storm tearing limbs from trees in several sections of the city. Although heavy storms were reported in various parts of Ohio, Marion and Marion county escaped serious damage.

More thundershowers are expected tonight and Sunday the U. S. Weather Bureau report today said.

HERE'S LAND WHERE WAR IS OUTLAWED

People Trained for Peace in New Guinea Mountain Territory.

By International News Service

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—An example to the world of a land where war can never have a place is Arapesh in the mountains of the Wewak district in New Guinea.

Through a system of education integrating the whole nation each individual there is taught that aggression is wrong, it was learned from Dr. Margaret Mead, assistant curator of ethnology at the American Museum of Natural History.

Telling of the Arapesh people Dr. Mead said they were agriculturists, have very poor land, game is scarce and rare, and the climate is damp and inclement. She explained:

"All the conditions are present which should make them aggressive. Instead, by a system of education, in which the whole aim of women and men is to cherish children, a type of character is developed which is peaceful and cooperative.

People plant their seeds in other people's gardens, plant their trees in other people's yards, feed their neighbors pigs and give their own pigs to someone else to feed.

Every individual is bound to his neighbors by ties of helpfulness and there is no single group of people who are associated together competently against any other group long enough for permanent disturbance to develop.

"The Arapesh preserve a peace-ful society by tying together into complete and so maintain peace dividuals."

If each nation in the bound to every other many rules as occur individuals of the Ara manent defense and off ences would be equally Dr. Mead believes.

CITY HALL PROJECT OUTLINED IN DETAIL

metal workers electricians and structural steel men

Qualified workmen on relief rolls and registered at the federal employment agency here would be given preference in employment The prevailing wage scale would be paid

From eight months to a year would be required to complete the building The work would be let by contract to the lowest and best bidder

A comparison of the cost of maintenance of the building with the city s present rental arrangement for city offices is difficult to arrive at With a municipally owned building all operating costs would be paid by the city whereas the city now pays an annual rental of $5700 for quarters with heat and light provided

Opportunity Offered

Last winter when the federal government set up its gigantic fund of $4 800 000 000 to provide useful occupations for millions now on relief instructions went out from Washington to all communities in the country to make arrangements to share in this fund At that time Marion had not shared any money disbursed by the public works administration

Marion officials and private organizations immediately began casting about for some way in which part of this fund could be placed to beneficial public use and at the same time provide work for Marion men

Attention was centered on a proposed city hall and auditorium project when members of Bird McGinnis Post of the American Legion called a meeting of interested groups citizens and officials to discuss possibility of obtaining federal aid in constructing such building The idea met favor and city officials subsequently prepared an application for a PWA grant of $164 250

With these preliminaries out of the way Mayor C A Bolin instructed Service Director C R Mercer to name a city hall building commission to have charge of all business phases of the venture This commission non partisan in membership is composed of W G McPeck chairman Clarence Bowe secretary Mrs W N Harder R M Wilhelm and Henry P Drake

Plans Studied

The commission now is engaged in a study of plans for the structure Although two sets of plans recently have been submitted by Marion architects John H Moore and Thomas W Rayburn no definite decision on details of the building has been reached

Details of Proposed Plans

Both plans are alike in some respects Both call for an auditorium on the ground floor with entrances separate from the entrance to the city office section Both are for three story office building sections with the ground floor about three and one half feet below the surface Mr Moore has planned the office section to face on Church street with the auditorium opening on Prospect street Mr Rayburn has reversed this arrangement opening the auditorium on Church street and the city hall section on Prospect. Both buildings are planned to cover the entire city lot which is 132 feet on Prospect street by 165 feet on Church street

On the ground floor of the city office section Mr Moore has placed the offices of the city engineer the service director garbage collection department public comfort stations and garages for police cars

The first floor contains offices for mayor city clerk auditor health commissioner city nurse safety director and other city officials This floor also contains over the garage for police cars an assembly and locker room for members of the police force

On the third floor is situated the police department and jail municipal judge s offices and combination courtroom and council chamber with an audience seating capacity for 30 persons In the jail a double tier cell block provides 10 cells A section also is provided for women prisoners

On the basement floor of Mr Rayburn s plans are located the police department garage a room for meetings of various private and public organizations and record storage rooms

On the first floor Mr Rayburn has placed the police department jail for men and women prisoners municipal courtroom and court offices and the garbage collection office

On the second floor are the offices of city officials and the council chamber

Mr Rayburn estimates the auditorium planned by him would seat 1575 persons with 1100 on the floor and 750 in the balcony The Church street entrance leads into a foyer with stairs on both sides to the balcony mezzanine.

The room would be constructed on the theater type with sloping floor and stationary seats Smoking and rest rooms for the first floor will be in the basement while these facilities for the balcony patrons will be off the mezzanine The stage at the widest part is 35 feet and has an opening of 30 feet

Mr Moore has designed an auditorium in a space 100 by 140 feet in dimensions The seating capacity is more than 2000 The plans call for a level floor with removable seats Sufficient floor space is provided for a regulation basket ball court or for commercial displays and expositions Fifteen hundred persons could be seated for basketball games by placing 300 seats on the stage

The main floor of Mr Moore s auditorium would seat 1440 and the balcony 774

The stage would be 37 feet deep with an opening of 60 feet Dressing rooms are provided in the stage wings

Chigger Bite

RECENTLY I TOLD you something about insect bites Special attention was given to the danger of the spider bite Today I want to tell you about another pest the chigger or red bug This is a small insect found in various sections of the country

The egg from which the chigger emerges is usually layed on bushes or tall grasses As a rule they are discovered in damp or shaded places They are seldom if ever found in the sunshine as in an open field or on a closely cropped lawn

The chigger attaches itself to the skin actually burrows into the skin causing red blotches to appear These may reach the size of a half dollar and cause a great deal of irritation and discomfort Sometimes there is blister formation and this may become infected with further disturbance of the skin

The bite of a chigger is often confused with that of a spider or other dangerous insects Fortunately it is not nearly so serious as that caused by a poisonous spider The chigger bite produces local discomfort and its effects rarely spread beyond the place of attack

On the other hand the bite of the black spider may lead to severe pain throughout the body This is due to the absorption of poisons liberated by the spider In rare instances its effect proves fatal but happily that of the chigger although severe and uncomfortable is not dangerous to life

Since the chigger is so tiny it is often difficult to see it on the skin But it can easily be destroyed by the application of iodine or carbolic acid Of course it is necessary to exercise great care in the application of the latter This acid is extremely caustic and should be applied only to the center of the red spot This is best accomplished by using a small piece of cotton wrapped around a match or tooth pick

Avoid the use of strong iodine and never apply too much of it Bear in mind that a severe burn of the skin may result from the careless handling of any such preparation

In addition to the local application mentioned it is advisable to take a hot bath Use plenty of soap and scrub the skin thoroughly The skin should then be sponged with alcohol or bicarbonate of soda solution A soothing ointment may be applied to the irritated area

If you are visiting sections of the country where the chigger may be encountered it is wise to sprinkle your outer garments with some form of antiseptic powder This destroys or drives away these annoying insects

County's Oldest Church Will Celebrate Sunday

CLARIDON M E CHURCH

Program at Claridon Will Mark 150th Anniversary of M E. Organization There

Thoughts of Marion county churchgoers particularly those of the Methodist Episcopal denomination will turn Sunday to Claridon where the congregation of the oldest church in Marion county will celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of its founding with a homecoming program and noon basket dinner

Dr Jesse J Wyeth superintendent of the Mansfield district of the North East Ohio M E conference and former pastors of the church have been invited to join with the congregation in the celebration

The program will open at 10 with a union Sunday school hour in which Rev L S Huffman of Edison a former pastor will teach Rev B I Angle pastor will officiate during the taking of the offering after which Rev L C McKarlin of Hayesville a former pastor will deliver an address

Afternoon Program

The afternoon program at 2 will open with music followed by a prayer by Rev I H Amore pastor of the Salem Evangelical church congregation which has been invited to join with Claridon for the day's festivities Salem church will assist in furnishing music

Rev H B Allen of Lakeside retired former pastor and Rev Philip B Smith of Bluffton Ind who was born and brought up in Claridon will be the afternoon speakers Former pastors and Dr Wyeth will be invited to give brief talks

A history of the church will be read by a member of the congregation Music will include songs by the women's chorus of the church and Cleona Baird Louise and Alfreda George Luella Elsa and Flora Mae Wilcox John and Alex Kerr and the choir

County's First

Claridon first town platted in Marion county was the scene of a meeting in the summer of 1820 at the home of Jacob Aye of a small band of pioneers thirsty to hear the Word of God

They heard a sermon by a circuit rider of the Columbus circuit of the Scioto district of the Methodist Episcopal church and for the next three years the Aye home was the scene of similar gatherings every month or six weeks when the circuit rider made his rounds

Meetings at the Aye home were discontinued and the group moved to the William Parker home where they continued to meet for the next 10 years

First Chapel Built

At the end of 13 years of these home meetings the congregation erected a log house 30 feet square one mile northeast of Claridon and named their meeting place English Chapel

The present township house which has been redecorated for the homecoming Sunday was the second church built It was erected in 18 5 and served as the meeting place until 1885 when the present church home was completed

Claridon was originally settled by the English and in 1821 a year after the first meeting at the Aye home there were 27 homes in the town

Many of the families in the eastern section of Marion county look back with pride to their ancestors who settled Claridon in the years from 1820 to 1829 The first of the pioneers were Jacob Aye Joseph Hornby Vincent Douce William Threw John Hinds Mathew Fields William Dickson Robert Boulton George Bayles John Hooten George Welbourn William Parker Henry Hatfield Comfort Olds Hugh Osborne and William Wellborn

The Stars Say--

For Sunday Aug 4

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE holds augury of lively and prosperous conditions with writings or letters figuring largely in the trend of events And while these may make for general progress or advancement yet correspondence of a purely private nature may cause some anxiety or regret The mind may function in unusual grooves and the tongue ran to sarcasm or caustic words Business agreements and employment are good

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a lively and progressive year with advancement and new business inspired or promoted by important writings But in personal correspondence be cautious as there is a tendency to suspicious and caustic or sarcastic words with oblique mental slants Employment thrives

A child born on this day may be versatile progressive and enterprising probably finding its pen or gifts of speech to be the lever of its success although at times tending to be confused sarcastic and bitter

For Monday Aug 5

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL forecast is for a fairly prosperous and progressive state of affairs with promise of increased business and favorable deals with important persons corporations mergers or secret societies But over all is a menace of the subtle or sinister with [illegible] intrigue and trickery to be guarded against

Those whose birthday it is may expect a lively and prosperous year with large and important persons and institutions favoring unorthodox projects Secret bodies and diplomatic measures contribute to success but in all be alert and avoid crafty tricks and underhand plots or intrigues Private affairs one give much happiness

A child born on this day may be particularly versatile and adaptable and could succeed by [illegible] spiritual methods [illegible] high minded and [illegible]

A SERMONETTE

BY REV RICHARD BLACK

Pastor of the Asbury and Morral M. E. Churches

Matt 6 24 No man can serve two masters . . . ye cannot serve God and Mammon.

MAN is so constituted that only one thing can be uppermost in his mind at any one time All else is subordinate to it God says give me that first place and drop all other rightful positions to other things that go to make up a good life and you will be a true servant of God Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind Matt 22 36

Most of us are willing to give God some place in our lives but the question is are we willing to give Him first place If not according to our text we have not obeyed God's commandment

Many individuals are divided in mind and heart as Judas Iscariot who spake these words Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred shillings and given to the poor? John 12 5 John goes on to say this he said not because he cared for the poor but because he was a thief John 12 6 Even though John may have been a little harsh we find a discrepancy between the words of Judas and his intention His intention was to keep the money his words suggested that he desired to give it away

Churches as well as individuals make the mistake of letting things of the world creep in and shut out the truth God is ever calling in the language of the prophet Cease to do evil learn to do well Isa 1 16 This is the law of the house upon the top of the mountain the whole limit thereof round about shall be most holy Ezekiel 43 12 Keep thy foot when thou goest to the house of God and be more ready to hear than to give the sacrifice of fools for they consider not that they do evil Ecc 5 1 My house shall be called of all nations the house of prayer but ye have made it a den of thieves Luke 11 17

Christ had no interests and no experiences in common with the worldly people His joys and sorrows His longings and hopes and His interests and ambitions were Heavenly and spiritual

We as believers seem to be divided into two groups the active and idle It is a matter of great surprise how much idleness there is in a place where there is so much to do such good returns and where all are supposed to work These idle people are so engaged in the affairs of the world that they have no time for the spiritual things It is also surprising how so many people will spend so much of their time with inanimate or lifeless matter that are of so little interest to them when it comes time to depart this life Jesus said Woe unto you scribes and Pharisees hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin and have omitted the weightier matters of the law judgment mercy and faith these ought ye have done and not to leave the other undone Matt 23 23

The powder the cannon ball and the cannon are all powerless Yet this powerless powder and powerless ball are put in a powerless cannon one spark of fire is added—and then in the twinkling of an eye that powder is a flash of lightning and that ball a thunderbolt which smites as if it had been sent from heaven So it is with us We have all the machinery and instruments necessary for pulling down strongholds—let us stop here and be divided—oh for the baptism of fire

The true believer has nothing in common with the world though he is in it subject to its government and makes his physical living in it He finds his experiences in spiritual things the things that accord with the Divine nature He finds little interest in the social, moral, economic and political affairs of the world knowing they are controlled by the evil one and destined to pass away The true Christian like Christ finds his experiences in spiritual things that is in the things of Christ He is in the world but not of it

Do You Like Old Things?

Do you like old houses old trees old prints? Do you catch your breath when you see old time polished furniture? Do you love the feel of old glass and read romance in old books?

There's comfort in them in a feeling that so many things grow better with the years. A funeral home is like that and you'll like The Schaffner Queen Company for that reason It's been mellowed in years, deeply rooted in the growth of the community with its growth and its development guarded to meet changing needs.

Our latest step has been the installation of air conditioning. Without additional charge we now offer the use of our cool and comfortable chapel rest and reception rooms.

We're proud of our modern methods of the up to date service we're able to offer But our real pride is in the time tested policies and the years of development that they stand for.

HOT BATHS FOUND INSANITY REMEDY

By International News Service

LOS ANGELES — There's the backwoodsman who thinks you're crazy if you take "one of them Turkish baths."

And then there's the modern view of medical science, disclosed here that if you are crazy you'd better take one!

Dr. Rodney F. Atsatt caused a perceptible stir when speaking before the American Congress of Physical Therapy, he referred to the proverbial "morning after" boil-out as a remedial agent in the treatment of insanity.

"Through absolute control of body temperature, such as is approximated in a Turkish bath, insanity caused by infectious diseases can be eliminated. We have made great experimental strides in this direction. With this particular form of derangement, it's all in the heat—and keeping it regular," he said.

VIENNA'S LOSS IS HOLLYWOOD'S GAIN

By International News Service

VIENNA—The best known Austrian composer of the younger generation, Erich Wolfgang Korngold, intends to take up permanent residence in the United States.

He will soon leave Vienna for Hollywood, accompanied by his wife and two children, to take charge of the musical end of several film productions. He will be associated with Max Reinhardt, with whom he already cooperated in the production of the "Midsummer Night's Dream."

The next Reinhardt-Korngold productions will probably be the film version of the "Bat," "Fiedermaus," and the "Tales of Hoffman."

Daily Pattern for Home Use

MAKE A COOL FROCK THAT'LL WIN YOU MANY AN ADMIRING BACK GLANCE!

Are you surprised that such a simple, demure front can have such a smart, up-to-the-minute back? You'll be no less surprised at how easily and quickly you can make this cool, all-occasion frock, and how inexpensive it is to have several of different fabrics like seersucker, striped shirting or shantung. You can add a dark lustrous satin to your early Fall wardrobe, too! You'll get places in this frock for its buttons stop in time to allow a good stride and its pleated sleeves are action minded. Just Things

Fans

IF you would see a new side of some of your friends and acquaintances take them, or let them take you "out to the ball game." They will certainly be a revelation to you, and vice versa, perhaps. We watched a fan, mild mannered in his everyday walk of life, take up the cudgels in defense of a team that was not doing so well, and tell several hundred "booers" what a "swell bunch of so and so's" they were. And he not only told them but courted most any style of annihilation by taking a right-about-face position for his delivery. And of course it's a well known fact that the fans tell the players how the game should be played but as the chorus usually is so large that orders are mixed, they go on and use their own judgment. It's our guess, though, that a batter we saw recently high-balling to first base with an eye on second, heard the order called, in a tone which brooked no contradiction, by a femme fan. The moment was tense and the crowd as silent as the much quoted tomb. Would he or wouldn't he try for second? To the amazement of her party and the amusement of that particular section of the grandstand, this ordinarily quiet and retiring fan calmly, but oh, so forcefully, charged, "here, don't run so far." And were her ears pink.

Poundage

IF you're a best friend to anyone, don't bother to tell 'em, it isn't any use. A friend, bemoaning her avordupois to another friend, related her luncheon menu which included a meatloaf sandwich, peach pie a la mode and a glass of milk. And the friend that was a friend, told her friend that that was no kind of a diet to lose on, in fact the pie and ice cream should have been out entirely and iced tea would have been a fine substitute for the milk. And if that best friend could have seen her best friend in another 24 hours munching gaily on an ice cream concoction that was anything but dainty in proportion she would have seen how useless it is to even try to be helpfully suggestive.

Examples

AND if you are one of those souls that enjoy all the viands that make for poundage did you ever know it to fail when just as you were finishing a particularly choice morsel loaded with those calories that count, a horrible example in the form of a 30-pounder didn't barge along and ruin the whole works for you?

MOONEY APPEAL TO COST STATE $10,000

By International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO—Thomas J. Mooney's newest fight to free himself of charges of carrying out the July 1916 Preparedness day bombing will cause a drain of more than $10,000 on state emergency funds.

Chief Justice William H. Waste of the state supreme court has asked Finance Director A. E. Stockberger to finance handling of Mooney's petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Expenses will include shorthand reporting at $10 a day for at least 30 days plus 50 cents a hundred words; cost of taking depositions in New York, Chicago, Baltimore and other cities, estimated at more than $2,000 and salary of the referee who is to be appointed by the court to hear the testimony.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Agrees That They Should Start Away at Once.

"I HAVE already told Mary that she cannot telephone from here," I said, and was remorsefully conscious of a slight stiffness in my tone—due, I knew to a silly resentment of Dicky's jibe about "efficiency." My husband put his hand underneath my chin and turned my face up so that my eyes met his laughing ones.

"Not sore at her old man because he pulled a bum and ancient wheeze, is she?" he asked. "Honest, sweet, I didn't mean a thing, and I don't want you to be mad when you're going away so far."

"Oh! Dicky darling, I'm not! I'm not!" I cried remorsefully. "Please forgive me!"

"That's worse than getting sore," he said distressedly. "I didn't mean to stage the heavy reproach!"

Ruse Succeeds

"There's no pleasing you," I said audaciously. "Kiss me, and call it square."

I knew that my ruse had succeeded when he chuckled as he kissed me.

"You can get out of things the 'beatinest'," he said teasingly. "But you haven't told me yet why Mary wants to telephone Noel at this hour in the morning."

"Because she knows that man out there is Jack Leslie," I answered, "and she is afraid he may have hurt Noel. She says she won't go to New Hampshire until she's sure Noel's all right."

"A murrain and two curses on all newly-weds!" he exploded, and I stiffened in his arms.

"It isn't a case of newly-weds at all," I said. "I should feel the same way, make the stipulation, if you were in question."

"Granted that," he said softly, tightening the grip of his arm around me. "But tell me quickly—I have to get back outdoors—how Mary found out that man was Jack Leslie."

Tells Mary's Story

Rapidly, in as few words as possible, I told him of Mary's recognition of the song which Leslie was singing from the apple tree; of its meaning as Leslie had stressed it to her, and of her torturing memories of both song and singer. He listened without speaking, and, when I had finished, loosened his clasp of me.

"So that's why he's putting on that stunt!" he said. "I thought, and so did the troopers, that he was either feigning insanity, or really was off his nut. Well! I promise Mary right now that when that bird flies down from the tree, I'll plant one swift and effective kick upon his anatomy for her sake.

"And I agree with all of you that you would better get started as soon as you can. I'll send Jim in right away. But remember now, don't you put your nose outside. Jim will take the things out and pack them. I'll give him a hand if he needs it."

"But, Dicky," I protested, "I must get out there. I simply must tell him where the things go."

"You heard me the first time," he said with a grin, but with a voice of adament. "We've got enough on hand without worrying about non-combatants on the firing line. When it's daylight you may get out, but not before. Want to wait to load the car till then?"

Boys Through Eating

"Oh! no," I told him hastily. "I'll manage. But I won't need Jim for ten minutes. Then send him in."

"That's all right by me," he returned. "So long!" And then he was gone, and I went back into the dining room, where I had left the boys and Mary.

"Look at, Mums!" Junior exclaimed as soon as I came through the door, "we've cleaned up every scrap on our plates. Kin we go back upstairs now? Aunt Katharine may want us to amuse Faith again."

I smothered a smile, and answered him with the seriousness his query had held.

"Yes, darling, go up now, and tell Aunt Katherine her breakfast is ready, and that I shall come up very shortly. But, remember, you must not try to amuse Faith unless Aunt Katherine says to do so."

"We won't do one single thing unless she tells us," Junior assured me earnestly. "Honest, Mums. You don't need ever to worry any more about us pulling any stuff like that—molasses and chicken feathers thing. We're cured of anything like that."

"You bet your boots we're cured," Roderick corroborated his cousin's assertion with equal earnestness and the faces of both boys were red with embarrassment at the recollection of their attempt to keep Faith quiet by putting molasses and chicken feathers upon her hands, according to the directions given them by Jerry Ticer.

"I know you are," I told them and they rushed out of the room, slowing down only at my admonition not to awaken their grandmother.

Mary waited until the door closed behind them. Then she said tensely: "What did Uncle Dicky say? Does he think Jack has hurt Noel. And will he let me telephone Noel from here?"

Composure

Fully as interesting to many Americans as news of a Russian submarine disaster killing 31 men is the way the news was released under the Soviet's strict discipline. Instead of being given out immediately it was held back a week then disclosed quietly.

The instance is a study in maintenance of mass composure. One recalls other submarine disasters when populations awaited breathlessly each new detail of frantic rescue operations but none of that for new Russia, whose people know only what it is good for them to know.

There was no way of course to suppress entirely information about the recent submarine disaster. Rumor eventually would have carried the story to all parts of the land. The next best thing from the standpoint of a muzzled press was to tell Russia as little as possible in as prosaic a way as possible.

Thus is composure maintained when government undertakes to control its destiny by keeping people in ignorance of incidents which might excite them into questioning the infallibility of their masters. A submarine disaster is relatively unimportant, therefore it is not permitted to seem important. Unfortunately the rule is made to apply to all events. Ignorance is contentment's best guarantee.

Not Scared.

The house of representatives has refused to be scared by an attempt to besmirch opposition to the clause in the Wheeler-Rayburn utilities bill abolishing holding companies. Thursday the house refused to instruct its conference committee to give in to the senate's committee pledged to fight for the death sentence.

The house of representatives warned that pressure would be brought to bear on it if it refused to enact the utility bill in the form favored by the administration defied instructions. It defeated the death sentence provision July 2 by a vote of 257 to 17. Then it enacted the modified bill 323 to 81.

That was a serious defeat for President Roosevelt who had gone the limit in supporting the bill. It was followed immediately by an investigation of lobbying in connection with the bill. Nominally committed to investigating administration as well as utility lobbying, the investigation soon concentrated on utility lobbying.

Certain damaging disclosures were made. In the mass however and including the last-minute disclosure made Thursday just before the house voted on the question of instructing its conference committee the evidence failed to be conclusive. It hurt public utilities to be placed under attack but it was plain to all reasonable persons that the lobbying investigation had nothing to do with the real issue, which was the government's right to decree death for a type of financial organization it apparently was unwilling to try to control.

Thursday's vote in the house, 209 to 155, a majority of 54, shows the net effect thus far of the attempt to frighten representatives into changing their minds on the holding company issue by making it appear they were influenced unduly by utility lobbyists. Apparently the lobby that defeated the holding company death sentence last July 2 was bigger than the utility lobby. It was an investors' lobby so big it didn't need to send telegrams, whisper in corridors or start whispering campaigns. For once at least persecution of utilities went so far it hit the pocketbook nerve of investors scattered throughout every congressional district in the country.

Inventory

A notion persists that some time before another leaf of the calendar is revealed the country will be snoozing in the comparative peace it enjoys when congress is not in session. It is timely therefore to take inventory of the legislation on the shelves.

Most prominently displayed is the tax bill. If the administration can sell it to congress one or more other bills might be taken in on the bargain. If no sale can be made all the remaining measures, none of them, will have to be sold on their own merits.

Only one of them hasn't been passed by either house, the Guffey-Snyder coal bill. Though it has the administration's support and has been made the deciding factor in a strike threatened by organized miners it has no definite standing.

Two bills have been passed by one house. They are the bill prohibiting suits against the government for damages resulting from abrogation of the gold clause in government bonds and the bill creating a new system of liquor [illegible] the federal alcohol control administration. Recently pointed doubt has been expressed on the senate's desire to pass the first bill. The second seems assured of passage.

Six bills have been passed by both houses and are [illegible] conference. They are the bills [illegible] motor truck traffic [illegible] the banking bill [illegible] additional powers to AAA [illegible] and the [illegible]. In each case excepting the [illegible] AAA measure [illegible] sharp disagreement [illegible] particular points.

It [illegible] when the desire for adjournment really grips congress [illegible] find a way to adjourn. Nothing [illegible] where there is a will. The fact [illegible] has remained in session thus far is not due wholly to President Roosevelt's wish for a legislative cleanup. Congressmen themselves, though complaining bitterly, know there are worse places to get publicity than Washington.

Land, Ho!

Sen Lewis, the Illinois fashionplate and talker of silvered oratory, has staked a claim for Uncle Sam. Let him explain:

Since we are now moving toward some [illegible] in international matters I again invite the attention of the senate to the debts due us from foreign nations. As reported by the public press $775 000 000 has just been added to the budget of one of our debtors for extra naval vessels. On the other hand a large loan has been arranged by France for Italy in preparation for her immediate requirements. I now invite the attention of this honorable body to the prospect of payment of some of these debts by the transfer to us of land adjacent to and connected with the American continent and not in use by our debtors.

The real estate on which Mr Lewis is keeping his eye is a strip between Canada and Alaska. It could be used to settle part of this government's claim against Great Britain. The other settlement he has in mind is against France, which owns some islands in the Caribbean sea the United States might be able to use.

Thus upon these international questions I suggest, intoned Sen Lewis, that as an example of peace and harmony and newly devised brotherhood we have the transfer of this land as a contribution on the debts due the United States looking to the payments by these debtors to the United States of debts which at this time are long since due.

Digging through the verbiage one discovers Sen Lewis wants to call the loan and take over the security or a small part of it. This is going to be worth watching. Newly devised brotherhood hardly begins to describe it.

A Cheer For the Admirals

It helps some times to remember admirals are seagoing jobholders. In that role they are no different from ordinary jobholders whose principal characteristic is a tendency to spend as much money as can be sweated out of taxpayers.

In recent days the admirals of Great Britain and the United States have been speaking in staggering terms—a $750 000 000 building program for the British navy and a $904 000 000 building program for the United States navy.

In both cases the money would be spent over a five year period. In both cases moreover the motive is the same. The United States and Great Britain are staging an act for the benefit of Japan which threatens to build its own navy up to parity.

There's every reason to believe the admirals would spend every dollar they could get. But that's the joker in jobholding. There's always some one to keep them from getting as much as they want. The money has to be appropriated.

The Roosevelt administration has spent more than $400 000 000 for new ships and threatens to spend $904 000 000 more if retained in power. Apparently the admirals are having things pretty much their way for the time being. There are nevertheless possibilities of interference.

They exist in the national reluctance of congressmen to spend great sums of money blindly on naval construction. Fortunately the admirals cannot make out their own checks. Long before they have spent $904 000 000 skeptics will begin to wonder why they need so much money and there are [illegible] Britain and Japan to [illegible].

NEW YORK Aug 3 To a [illegible] top-gallant and away [illegible] the staccato of life on the sidewalks and streets below is about as much [illegible] as the metropolis offers. Every block a more [illegible] as shifting as the kaleidoscope.

Across from my [illegible] a sundown was a graceful [illegible] lost in the style sheets in the pages of Harpers Bazaar. In front a harried Casper Milquetoast with an umbrella and a dent in his derby. And across the aisle a [illegible] with a [illegible] worn pair of gloves in his breast pocket. Reminding of Bill Nye's simile: His gloves stuck out of the pocket of his coat like the fingers of a drowning man raising for [illegible] more beers. We halted a moment in front of a feminine type of restaurant with window tables and there came this reflection:

I never saw a skinny girl eating one of those gooey double mixed [illegible] chocolates. And I never saw a fat woman who wasn't. A lurch and an elderly gentleman drops his glasses. They were run over, the glass powdered fine enough to put into an enemy's oatmeal.

Too a girl silhouetted at Hicks fountain churning her drink with a spoon and swinging the glass in circles to get the last mixed drop. Darting thought: Soda jerkers have studied 50 years and the Confectioners Journal has given recipes of millions of drinks with palate pleasing names but no one has beaten the good old chocolate ice cream soda. F Berry Wall has had his 3 p m daily chocolate soda at Rumpelmayers for 22 years.

A sheen of Bowery brass in the avenue's pomp. A flight up, Dress Suit for Hire parlor. A statistician should strike the average age of dress suits men wear at class reunions and the vintage of Irvin Cobb's. The one with frog buttons. Menjou and Jack Whiting gum up full evening attire for most of us. Maybe too it's the end of the Dress Suit Era. Slacks for a slack period.

A Claire Luce type swings daintily out of Dunhill's with one of those Pedlingtons on a leash. The dog that looks and acts like a shy lamb. That such a noble animal as the dog should be subjected to changing styles. Where is the Spitz, Pug, Newfoundland and the Caniche? They vanish like the buffalo and Indian. I hear there's not a French poodle in all Paris. Not even in the Parc Monceau.

A half dozen women smoking in a single block. Not one self conscious. I remember my father returning from New York to tell the old Mentors on his hotel verandah of Rosina Vokes smoking a cigar, lighting the wrong end so the wrapper unrolled on the stage. Rosina Vokes was a cult. It was supposed to be the funniest thing like Cornell, B Lillie and Tallulah. One must be in advance of 50 to remember Beatrice Herford once opened a Rosina Vokes theater. There were Rosina Vokes cigars, hats, etc.

The five-and-ten building that covers the Wendell acreage is undergoing the finishing touches. More than London Tower the venerable mansion was cloaked in gloom. There was a knothole in the high spiked fence where the pedestrian could see the asthmatic dog Toby in its several million dollar playground. Shutters flapped in the wind, dim lights flickered mysteriously at windows and now and then late at night a shawled Wendell sister would peep furtively out the door and scurry to drop a letter in the corner box. A sepulchral haunt made for mystery makers. Poe would have loved it.

A lady spiraled up to our conning tower at the public library. She opened a book I've wanted to read, Lowell's Biglow Papers. This was a George Ade sum-up of things in the generation before Ade. The most interesting of all biographies should be one that Ade turns out. The only real modern of his generation.

I noticed a chambermaid with white cap and apron peeking down from a hotel window near Madison Square. Tired, faded, gray. It's a job many ladies of other days seek, a way to hide. People only glance at a chambermaid.

Oddly the old Flatiron, first skyscraper, is better tenanted than a half score modern and higher spires. Frank Munsey's offices were there—with the throne. Herbert Corey's, Jimmy Allison's. The avenue tapers from 23d to the arch into a soft mellow glow, a benison that slows pedestrians into a saunter. One thinks of Mark Twain, O Henry and many more whose gifts made life more endurable. —(Copyright 1935 McNaught Syndicate)

Behind The News In Washington And Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON Aug 3—The way congress has played deaf to President Roosevelt's continuous demands for abolishing tax exempt securities is beginning to cause talk. The President dusted off his tax exempt trumpet again the other day when he sounded a charge against the thriftiest multimillionaires who drew 37 per cent of their income from tax exempt securities three years ago. He has been blowing that same bugle call off and on for a year and nothing ever happens. The troops do not move.

Ordinarily the White House only has to whisper to get action out of congress but on this one issue even the headline thunder it emits fails to stir up anything more than a long suspicious silence. It is such a peculiar situation that you might reasonably suspect the desires of the New Dealers in this respect are not as avid as they sound.

The fact is most congressmen have the same impression.

Sugar

The real reason why Congress never does anything about the tax exempt issue is that it is generally understood on the inside that the New Dealers are largely trying to sweeten the government bond market. By always threatening to abolish tax exempts in the future they make existing government bonds sweeter.

Furthermore if you dig deeply into the upper crust of the fiscal strata here you will find that not all the financial authorities of the new deal are convinced that a constitutional amendment would be a good thing.

Heavy undercover dissension cropped out at a congressional meeting at the White House when that subject was mentioned lately. For one thing the effect on future treasury financing is questionable. Many small communities could not float bond issues under such conditions. If the federal government can tax state bond issues it can run the states themselves.

Also the multi-millionaires issue is at least partly ballyhoo because the rich bondholders pay a considerable tax in reduced interest rates on such bonds.

Retreat

The so-called progressive group has some of the largest-lunged tooters on the tax-exempt trumpet. They have been demanding for years that something be done. The other day they had an opportunity to carry out their idea. A proposal was made to permit taxation of bonds of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Their howl against it was the loudest.

Persiflage

No one has noticed it yet but Mr Roosevelt has sworn off those private little exchanges he indulged in with friendly newsmen in the front line at his press conferences. The reason is that a few weeks ago some of the correspondents began printing this persiflage. The President apparently was astounded to find in his morning paper one day a highly seasoned account of his observations about the relative merits of haddheads (fish) and [illegible] heads (politicians). [illegible] heard that.

Hurry—Smear

The secret of the lobby committee investigation was hard [illegible]. The [illegible] were out for publicity only. They wanted to advertise the [illegible] of the utilities in a hurry. No time could be wasted on a leisurely inquiry for the purpose of legislation. They had to smear the power boys (while Senator Wheeler [illegible]) the utility bill in [illegible] to change congressional [illegible] and public opinion for Mr Roosevelt's [illegible] named death sentence provision. They [illegible] with unusually high-handed [illegible] because no congressman dared to protest. The [illegible] of the [illegible] themselves to defend.

Lesson

The house is run by a private triumvirate, Speaker Joe Byrns, Rules Chairman O'Connor and Whip Pat Boland. Not included in the group is Chairman Doughton of the powerful ways and means committee. The triumvirate decided recently to teach Mr Doughton a lesson.

Doughton had promised the Republicans eight hours of debate on his tax bill without consulting the triumvirate. Byrns, O'Connor and Boland thought that was too much time and decided to show Mr Doughton who was leader. When Doughton tried to arrange for eight hours the triumvirate had Boland object, something unheard of. In the end they had to agree to six hours but Doughton now knows whom to consult when he wants to arrange debating time.

Notes

One third of the members of congress have sent their families home or to resorts. That may delay adjournment.

When Secretary Morgenthau left the senate finance committee witness chair he leaned over to Treasury Critic Harry Byrd and said: We two apple growers should not be so far apart.

Congressman Wilcox of Florida is offering $1 000 to any one who will tell him how a Democrat can get a job with this administration. At least he made the offer in replying to a constituent who asked him the question.

By JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK Aug 3—There hasn't been much inflation talk in Wall Street lately. Such favorite hedges against inflation as the gold stocks have made about the poorest showing of any group in the market rise of the past two months. Yet astute New York analysts note the presence of several markedly inflationary influences and predict that they will have a wide effect in time.

One is the steady increase in the public debt. Additional funds are being raised in comparatively small amounts and with so little fuss as to be hardly noticeable. But with all the talk of budget balancing the fact is that the Treasury's total obligations have been rising by roughly $100 000 000 a week in recent weeks. This has been going on long enough to make it look like a definite policy. The excess reserves of the commercial banks are ample to absorb all such Treasury offerings for a long time to come — especially when they are fed out in small doses. And if the private banks should ever balk the new banking bill would virtually compel the federal reserve banks to swallow all the securities the federal government cares to authorize.

Insiders interpret this policy as evidence that the administration intends to bring on its own credit inflation—since the banks have done nothing with the reserves designed to make them loan and invest more freely—but to do it so gently and gradually that no one will be alarmed. No one is—[illegible] there are plenty of conservatives convinced that this road is just as dangerous as the printing press trail—perhaps more so because it's subtler.

Inflation

Then there are the AAA amendments. These are rated inflationary because of the extraordinary powers granted the secretary of agriculture [illegible] the supply of [illegible] commodities. Whether [illegible] is [illegible] irrelevant [illegible].

A [illegible] amendment [illegible] is in effect [illegible] to be [illegible] of the crop [illegible] the new amendments the administration could acquire a [illegible] of wheat [illegible].

Such [illegible] could [illegible] the supply. This [illegible] appears on—which should certainly please farmers if not urban consumers. The LaFollette amendment to establish quota control of agricultural imports would strengthen the government's grip still more. Higher commodity prices are in sight—and that's inflation. The method isn't obvious—as it would be in the case of monetary maneuvering—but the results are the same in the long run.

Forced

Still another element of potential inflation that has right-wingers uneasy is the foreign monetary picture. No one can foretell exactly what would happen if Holland and or France ditches the gold standard—except that there would be plenty of excitement for a while.

But it's a fairly safe bet that the administration would not permit the U S to be placed at a disadvantage in foreign exchange. To avoid this Roosevelt might feel obliged to resort to further devaluation. New York observers admit he shows no appetite for such a move but believe it may be forced upon him. That would spill the inflationary beans for fair.

Needs

Father Coughlin has gone into an eclipse in more ways than one. His abstention from the radio may be merely seasonal. But summer doesn't explain abandonment of his Washington bureau—of which he was so proud—with congress still in session. Nor does it account for the transfer of legislative agent Louis Ward to fields far away from the capital.

Informed sources say that Coughlin now realizes he stubbed his toe at the first Detroit meeting of the National Union for Social Justice—and that he has been slipping ever since. He is said to be lying doggo for the present in the hope that people will forget his mistaken venture into politics and permit him to recapture the prestige he gained when he stuck strictly to editorializing on the air.

Insiders are not at all surprised at the word that Coughlin has gone back to Roosevelt. They remark that this was clearly his only chance of redeeming his National Union blunders. But they scoff at reports that Roosevelt has promised him some legislative quid pro quo. Why should he? Coughlin is in no position to demand terms. He needs Roosevelt much more than the President needs him.

Sweet

New Yorkers get a laugh out of the efforts of the state of Texas to cope with the hot oil problem. Texas has a formula supposed to discourage illegal producers. It consists of confiscating the oil and reselling it at auction.

The hitch is that the said illegal producers buy in their own output cheap. Then they have acquired it legally and can sell it anywhere they wish with a profit. There's a gentleman's agreement among them not to bid for each other's oil and the big companies so far have refrained from bidding in—fearing that it would somehow aid their [illegible] for a bootleg product. So the purchasers don't have [illegible] competition at the auction. Who could be sweeter?

Annoyed

Bankers are [illegible] to themselves about Secretary Morgenthau's plan to issue half cent and one mill pieces. They foresee expensive changes in bookkeeping and coin counting equipment. Some of them [illegible] nights figuring up the [illegible].

Kites Fight Herons

[illegible] sends news interesting to Ethiopia and Italy. The famous Cheveleyka heron colony close to Vladivostok where Russia keeps her submarines and airplanes ready for Japan was raided by savage black kites, a fighting type of falcon. Many herons were killed when peasants [illegible] drove away the kites. The kites fought like wolves [illegible] something not seen before. [illegible] of the herons were killed. [illegible] value the herons because they eat snakes.

An ancient Pharaoh would have wanted that incident explained to him by wise men as Joseph explained the dream of the fat and lean cattle.

He Prefers Murder

The highly intelligent tiny delegate of the Ethiopian emperor at Geneva, less than five feet tall, with a fine mind, says the League of Nations agreement would suggest that Abyssinia voluntarily commit suicide, whereas Mussolini threatens assassination. He prefers assassination to suicide because an attempt to assassinate might fail, or at least if Ethiopia were murdered it would not be responsible for its own death.

This Ethiopian delegate would deny as other important Ethiopians do that Ethiopians are an African Negro race. Educated Ethiopians declare themselves to be of Semitic origin, the king Haile Selassie announcing proudly that he is the direct descendant of King Solomon, the greatest of all the Jews, and of Sheba, ancient queen of Abyssinia.

The King Wills It

A commission of British peers speaking for King George using four words of old French, le Roi le veut (the King wills it), announces self government and partial independence for India.

It will be long before the 350 000 000 people of India find out about this, still longer before they really have self government or independence.

In old days, and days much more recent than the Norman conquest, those four words le Roi le veut might settle any question in many countries.

Now in England they simply mean that a democratic government has decided that the King shall say so. The King has nothing to decide. The new decision puts 1 100 000 square miles of British India and 700 000 square miles in 600 states governed by native princes into a so-called federation.

England, you will not be surprised to hear, retains control of India's defense, internal policy including police, and foreign affairs.

Prove It

Many lawyers interested in the tax bill that congress will probably have passed when you see this call such quick passage of a tax bill unconstitutional. All tax bills should originate in the house of representatives whereas this tax bill originated in the White House.

The White House may reply as a well known actor's father did when told about the probable size of the universe: Go to—and prove it.

100 Feet a Second

A young Georgian known to millions of Americans as Prince Alexis Mdivani, who married the heiress of many five and ten cent stores, was killed, his body cruelly shattered, in an automobile accident near Barcelona, Spain. A dial in the wrecked car showed the car was going eighty-seven miles an hour, which makes other explanation unnecessary.

Even sixty miles an hour means nearly one hundred feet per second and almost any second at such speed, if the driver looks away from his road, may be the last second.

Mdivani, who had always lived and moved rapidly, was going eighty-seven miles an hour on a mountain road when his car struck a culvert and turned over five times, almost cutting his head from his body.

A 23-year-old German baroness with him desperately injured [illegible] die.

These details, horrible as they are, are useful reminding Americans that one mile a minute may mean death.

Erie, Pleasant Win Friday Tilts Despite Rains

Erie Traffic and Pleasant Lutherans jumped ahead in the Commercial softball league standings last night as they played the only games not permanently halted by showers. The Railroaders won from Saratoga Grill, 18 to 9, at Garfield park, the K. of P. received credit for a forfeit from the Eagles team and the Pleasant team won fast tilt last night at Lincoln park, 3 to 1.

Loose playing r at the Elks their game with the Pleasant Lutherans at Lincoln park. Play was held up at the start of the third inning for more than 30 minutes by a downpour.

The winners scored the deciding runs in the fourth when Weiss, Pleasant hurler, walked. Last struck out, Almendinger doubled and the two runners scored as Carroll Caris threw high over the first sack after taking Perk Seiter's grounder at shortstop.

The Elks threatened twice but were unable to score after they had tied the count in the second. A costly "error of ommission" happened in the first inning when Lingo stepped off second as Pete Howison walked. Jimmy thought the bases were loaded and started to stroll to third.

Rosene Runk, giving his third pass and one hit in the first of the second, walked in a run for the Pleasant team. Williams accounted for the charity tally. Alec Shoup evened the score to open the last half of the second with a long home run drive to deep centerfield. Hogan, second baseman, connected for a hit but could not get home as the Pleasant team bore down in the pinches.

Erie Traffic had little difficulty in scoring runs off Lowry, Saratoga hurler, as it tallied six in the first inning on three hits, two walks and a pair of errors. Seven more were added in the second, one in the third and two in the fifth and sixth. The losers had a big inning in the sixth when they batted through their entire lineup to score five runs.

Fido Robbins, Erie centerfielder, started the second inning with a long home run hit to left centerfield. Mill Pohler garnered three hits. Joe Robbins, Lowry and Brittan scored two hits apiece for the losers.

CHICAGO CLUB WANTS TO GET BACK HOME AS LOSSES PILE UP

Schott Allows Cubs 4 Hits as Giants Gain; Yanks Cut Tiger Lead.

BY ANDY CLARKE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs are wishing they could play all their games in their own ball yard.

Not that Charlie Grimm and his boys suffer from nostalgia or can't do without home cooking. It just so happens that they lose a flock of ball games when they are on the road.

During the past month the Cubs have surged up into the fight for the National League leadership, displaying a brand of baseball that gave Bill Terry and the Giants many a moment of sober speculation. They have a young team, brash enough to think the Giants aren't in it with them. In Lon Warneke, Bill Lee and Tex Carleton they have a trio of fine pitchers. The infield is fast.

Their winning streaks for the most part however, have been confined to Wrigley Field where they always have been hard to beat. Now they are on the road and they have been tripped up in their last three encounters, twice by the Pittsburgh Pirates and once by the Cincinnati Reds.

The Cubs suffered the ignominy of being white-washed by the Reds yesterday. Gene Schott stood them on their heads and they went down on the short end of an 8-0 score. It was the first time they had been blanked since July 5.

The Cubs go back home next Tuesday and they hope for a resumption of their winning splurge.

The Giants strengthened their position at the peak of the league with a 4-1 win over the hapless Braves in the opener of a four-game series. Clydell Castleman and Allyn Stout combined to pitch five-hit ball, the former being credited with his tenth victory of the season before abdicating with a lame arm in the sixth.

The Brooklyn Dodgers scored four runs in the first inning without hitting a ball out of the infield to defeat the Phillies, 8-3 in the opening game of their series. Ralph Boyle got the only hit of that frame, an infield single, but Bucky Walter and John Pezzullo, on the mound for the Phillies contributed two passes, Dolph Camilli conveniently made three errors and the Dodgers completed the debacle by working a double steal.

In the American League the Yankees fell on three Washington pitchers for 13 hits to win 9-4 and gain half a game on the leading Detroit Tigers. The Tigers now lead by three games, with the White Sox two games behind the Yankees, Johnny Broaca went the route for New York to chalk up his ninth win of the season.

The St. Louis Browns defeated the Chicago White Sox 10-8, Sam West's homer with Ray Pepper on base providing the winning margin in the eighth.

POLICEMAN, STUDENT PLAY IN GOLF FINALS

Youngster Swamps Veteran; St. Paul Player Battles Blisters.

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 3—A "kid" policeman, with an old patrolman's woe-blistered feet, and an 18-year-old high school boy from Brooklyn faced each other in the finals of the National Public Links golf championship today.

The "kid" cop was Joe Coria of St. Paul, Minnesota's open champion, and the student was Frankie Strafaci, second youngest of five golfing brothers from the East River bank. Their battleground for the title was 36 holes over the Charles E. Coffin course, one of the toughest public layouts in the land.

Coria, attended by a foot specialist and leaning on the arm of the Minnesota team manager, entered the finals yesterday despite the torment of pain by defeating Bill Russell the home town pride of Indianapolis, 4 and 2, whereas Strafaci, a little fellow with black wavy hair, gave Bob Tomes, veteran Long Beach player, a lesson by crushing him under an avalanche of beautiful shots that made the Californian quit after hitting his last tee shot. The score was 11 and 9.

Frankie Parker, youthful No 1 ranking tennist, is experimenting with a two-handed grip for overhead smash shots.

PUPILS OF ROCKNE LEAD IN GRID POLL

Madigan, Bachman and Thomas Ahead In Voting

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO. Aug. 3—Three coaches who learned their football from the late Knute Rockne at Notre Dame were running one-two-three today in the poll to select a staff to direct the college All-Stars against the Chicago Bears, Aug. 29.

Edward P (Slip) Madigan, was the leader, jumping from fourth place with 839,898 points. Charlie Bachman of Michigan State and Frank Thomas of Alabama followed with 837,728 and 835,838, respectively. Dr. C. W. Spears of Wisconsin, had 810,884 for fourth place, ahead of another representative of the Rockne school of football, Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, who had 810,228.

The other contenders, Bo McMillin of Indiana and Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, had 807,631 and 791,675 totals. The polls close tomorrow at midnight and the coaching staff will be announced Monday night.

MILLERS BOOST LEAD BY TOPPING BIRDS IN BIG RALLY, 11-9

Indianapolis Loses Full Game as Brewers Win Tilt, 8 to 6.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug 3—Minneapolis today had increased its lead over Indianapolis in the American Association title battle to three games, along with making a good start toward throttling Columbus' hopes of retaining the championship.

The Millers came from far behind yesterday to score their seventh victory in eight games over Columbus in the Minneapolis park this season, 11 to 9. In a night game, Milwaukee tripped the second place Indianapolis club, 8 to 6, boosting the American League leaders' margin by a full game.

The Red Birds started their handyman, Mike Ryba, the league's leading hurler, and for about five innings appeared on the road to victory. They belted Ray Kolp and Bill Perrin out of action in the first three innings to run up a 7 to 2 lead. However, with the aid of two home runs by Leo Norris and one each by Buzz Arlett and Spencer Harris, all with men on, the Millers wiped out the deficit and went on to win.

Ryba was batted out in the sixth, but escaped being charged with the defeat, Joe Chambers being the pitcher of record when Minneapolis went ahead. The defeat left Columbus six games out of first place.

Milwaukee's victory over Indianapolis was only its second in 15 games this year. The Brewers got away to a three-run lead in the first three innings, saw the Indians tie it up in the fifth, but used their half of the same frame to score three more. Indianapolis scored two in the sixth and one in the seventh on Jack Kloza's double and a single by Earl Webb.

Toledo hammered Stratton, Mills and Hunter for 15 hits and a 10 to 7 victory over St. Paul to make it two straight in the series. Ivy Shiver, Saint outfielder, hit two home runs over the distant, right field fence. Kansas City bunched 13 hits for a 12 to 4 decision over Louisville in another night game.

PLAY LONG GAME.

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 3 — The softball battle in the Big Four park diamond on Thursday evening provided plenty of excitement for the large crowd of fans with Rainbow Vets winning a hard fought, 10-inning fray over Pfarr's Auctioneers by a score of 5 to 4.

Manager Bill Terry of the Giants hits better in Forbes field, Pittsburgh, than in any park.

Plan Speedboat Racing Events on Scioto River

Program at Newman's, Scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 18, To Attract Foremost Drivers.

Speedboat racing fans of Central Ohio will be given a treat and many thrills Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 17 and 18 when a two-day outboard motorboat regatta is staged at Newman's on the Scioto river near Prospect.

Climaxing the program will be the races Sunday under the auspices of the Scioto Beach Park Boat club. Saturday's races are being sponsored by the Commercial club of Prospect in connection with the centennial celebration. More than $200 in prize money has been appropriated for the events. With awards arranged for each heat of three races on Sunday, many of the midwest's best drivers are expected to enter the events.

All plans for the Sunday race have been completed by K. J. Maxwell, race committee secretary, and preparations are being made to take care of one of the largest crowds to witness a sports event in Marion county.

Gates will open Sunday morning at 8 o'clock so that fans may watch the practice spins. Pits of all entries will be open for inspection. A surfboard riding contest for boys and girls of Marion county will be held before the afternoon race events.

Included in the list of entries already received are the names of five Marion drivers. Pat Dwyer, R. E. Hughes and T. Carey will race in the Class B event and Paul Heitzner and Wally Horn are entered in the Class C event.

The race course will be one-fourth of a mile in length. There will be three heats in each race with heats equivalent to a distance of three miles. Races will be held in Class A, B and C divisions, with the Class C race to be a free-for-all-run.

Safety boats are planned for the river course during the race. A large number of the country's leading drivers are expected to enter the race which comes just prior to the Mid-East Regatta at Marietta, Aug 23-24.

A regatta queen contest is to be held in connection with the event and the winner will reign at the races as Miss Commodore. Entries for the regatta queen contest are now being received by the racing committee.

CARDINGTON TO VIE WITH JOHNSVILLE

Morrow County Diamond Title At Stake In Game

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON, Aug. 3—A good game is assured for Sunday when the Cardington ball club will motor to the Pines to play Johnsville. The two outstanding teams of the county will meet to determine the county championship, Cardington with a record of 12 wins out of 13 games played this year, will bring a large number of fans and one of the largest crowds of the season is expected. This will be the first time these two teams have faced each other. Johnsville will return the game at Cardington Aug. 25.

SHOVEL TEAM TO PLAY PLAIN CITY

One of the fastest baseball games seen this season at Lincoln park is expected tomorrow afternoon when the Marion Steam Shovel team meets the Plain City club.

The Diggers have been playing brilliant baseball since their organization a month ago. In the Plain City team they will face the toughest opposition brought to Marion yet. The tilt is to start at 2:30 and the Marion club will use the same lineup as played last week. A large crowd is expected for the event.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press

SAM WEST, Browns—His eighth inning homer with Ray Pepper on base broke deadlock with White Sox.

GENE SCHOTT, Reds—Held Cubs to four hits and no runs.

RED ROLFE, Yankees—Connected with three hits and stole one base against Senators.

MEL OTT, Giants—Hit 24th homer and drove in another run with double in 4 to 1 victory over Braves.

SAM LESLIE, Dodgers—Led attack on five Philadelphia pitchers with three hits.

WILL PLAY SUNDAY

The Hamburger Inn softball team will play a double-header Sunday afternoon at the Silk Mill diamond with the Pleasant Lutherans. The first game is scheduled for 1:30

SHUTE-GHEZZI STAR IN TOLDEO GOLF PLAY

Picard and Revolta Take Lead as Pace-Setters Are Dropped.

By The Associated Press

INVERNESS GOLF CLUB, TOLEDO, O., Aug. 3—Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., and Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee were leading the pack today as action was resumed in the Inverness best-ball team play matches in which 16 outstanding golf pro's are taking part.

The top-notchers have a plus-1 rating, that being the margin they have earned over three sets of foes to date, and in building up that edge they have been 14 under par for 54 holes, the best mark of the tournament.

They stacked up against Ky Laffoon of Chicago, and National Open champion, Sam Parks of Pittsburgh this morning, and will meet Walter Hagen and Al Watrous of Detroit this afternoon.

Parks and Lafoon had a sad experience yesterday. At the end of the morning round they were "plus five" and leading the way, but Denny Shute of Chicago and Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., turned in a best ball of 62 against them, sending Parks and Laffoon eight down for the match, and putting the champion and his partner in last-place with a minus three rating.

Shute and Ghezzi jumped from last place to second as a result of their sensational round, on which they birdied nine of the 10 holes from the sixth to the 16th, winning seven of them.

MARYSVILLE CLUB WINS GOLF MATCH

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 3—Women golfers of the Marysville Country club defeated the London Country club women golfers at the local course, 20 to 4, Thursday. The nine-hole matches with a point for match play and a point for low score, were run off. Rosina Kingsmore of Marysville turned in the low score of the match, 49, with Nancy Christopher of London and Dorothy Dutro of Marysville being second low with 52.

Johnson's Fate With Cleveland at Stake Today

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug 3—The question whether Walter Johnson will remain longer as manager of the Cleveland Indians was the principal subject for a meeting of the team's owners today.

Johnson, under fire from many of the Cleveland fans and sports writers since early in the season, conferred several hours with Alva Bradley, president of the club in Detroit yesterday.

"We just discussed the situation pro and con" Bradley said. "We talked about everything from the bat boy up."

Bradley then added he would meet with the other directors of the club in Cleveland today, and that they will decide what action, if any, should be taken.

Johnson, whose team is in fifth place in the American League standings, despite a widespread belief at the start of the season that they would win the pennant, indicated he would resign if the club's directors deem it best.

CALENDAR OF SUNDAY BASEBALL

HERE'S BEER AT ITS BEST
● Pour a bottle of beer from the Cypress Casks of Goebel. Smell the rare fragrance of fine hops—the mellow aroma of choice malt. Treat your eyes to sparkling amber that bubbles like champagne and raises a foamy crest as thick as cream—as white as snow. Thrill to flavor that's neither sweet nor bitter but a delicious combination of both. Do this today at lunch—or tonight at dinner. See for yourself how one brown bottle of Goebel Beer awakens an appetite for good food; drives away worldly cares; warms, soothes and satisfies the very soul of the inner man. Here's beer at its best—beer that wins and holds your preference with the first bottle.

I'm tired of it that you needn't worry about money put in Albery complacently Then his voice changed

You're worth far more than money Rex You're an asset—you belong to the nation—to England

And apart from the personal madness in his brain he was speaking the truth He needed this man more than he needed any man upon earth And yet he wished him dead

Rex he added earnestly I definitely want you to put off the Pacific flight I'm sure it will be best for you as well as for me if you wait until we're quite certain about the new fuel If it comes off it'll be the biggest triumph for you If it doesn't you can do the flight all the same

Rex Moore shrugged his shoulders his angry mouth looked petulant as a child's But of course he did know what it would mean to him if the new fuel turned out a success He would be the first man to fly at a speed hitherto believed impossible Although he hated this inaction he could not deny that it was worth waiting for

That's settled then said Albery By the way I didn't sack the chap who left the trap open last night You asked me not to for one thing And it turned out to be Flood the foreman of the hangar one of the men we could least spare He was in a terrible state when I told him what might have happened to you

Yes I've seen him Rex replied carelessly He's a good fellow I know He seemed frightfully upset And he said he had strained his arm rather badly and was afraid he couldn't manage the trap alone and all the others had gone I'm glad you didn't sack him Mr Albery He won't do it again

Rex Moore was in London on the following Sunday

He rang up Mrs Steele from the Chelsea flat which he was still occupying at Albery's urgent request or rather command Albery said it was necessary for their plans that Rex should use it when in London after Laurie had left

Rex did not want to see Mrs Steele but he could never get over his bad conscience where she was concerned He had behaved to her with such rank ingratitude

She was at home and invited him to come to lunch with that throb of emotion in her high pitched voice that made him so uncomfortable

"I thought I was never going to see you again" she said when he arrived But this time there was no reproach in her voice only unashamed delight which made him feel very small and unworthy

He explained how busy he had been as they sat in the sitting room of her luxurious suite And then realizing that he might have had the decency to pay her some slight attention such as sending flowers or an invitation to a meal and a show he ended up awkwardly

"I'm afraid I'm not fit for civilized life Wanda I must seem abominably ungrateful

My dear I know how you only live for your job she answered generously As long as you don't try to pay me back what you think you owe me with money That hurts too much I have a terror of opening a letter again like that last one you sent me

Her eyes were misty her large eager red mouth trembled as she gave him a smile of pathetic tenderness

The man was touched

They talked of all sorts of things over the delicious and light luncheon Wanda skillfully led him on to his own subjects He told her about his preparations for the Pacific flight and she said she would love to travel to South America with him on her way home Perhaps she could arrange it as he was having to postpone his departure

He did not tell her about his accident of the middle of the week For some reason that he did not quite understand he would not allow himself to think of it It was too fantastic and at the same time too dull He had looked death in the face many a time but never in an ignominous way like that

It was not until the end of the meal when the coffee was bubbling in the glass globe on the table and a box of cigars was laid by Rex's side before the waiters withdrew that Wanda Steele asked him the question he had been waiting for

Is it true—what one hears that you and your wife have parted?

How did you hear?

From several people I have met

He gave a rather doleful laugh

I didn't think we were important enough

But of course you are Rex The public is wild for the slightest bit of news about you I was very much surprised

Yes It's true You see it—well it wasn't fair to her I mean my coming back like that After all that time — without letting her know

You mean she wanted to leave you?

Of course She was very sporting about it She did her best

What are you going to do—get a divorce?

Yes What else can we do?"

I see Wanda burst out indignantly And you'll take the blame Rex and she'll marry Albery"

I am to blame he said simply How did you know about Albery?

Anybody with eyes could see that he's crazy about her And of course he's a great catch for a girl like that

She had slightly forgotten herself She flushed and apologized I didn't mean anything against her Rex I know how chivalrous you are And she seemed a nice quite little thing But I can't help being angry with her for letting you down

She hasn't let me down Wanda Please I'd rather not discuss it We have agreed that it would be the best to part

Monday Rex commits himself and his future.

"BLACK FURY" ON OHIO BILL

One of Probable "Ten Best" Pictures of Year Opens Today

Starting off with a picture already considered for ten best honors the Ohio will offer a program of four pictures during the week

Today Sunday and Monday fans will have the opportunity of seeing Black Fury considered one of the most powerful of the year's dramas Leading critics have predicted that the work of Paul Muni will be among the finest of 1935 when a checkup of the year's performances is made.

The picture is based on the story Jan Volkanik by Judge M A Musmanno and the play Bohunk by Harry R Irving It brings action to the screen as it outlines the loves and hates the sorrows and joys the hope and despair of the men and women whose lives are devoted to bringing forth fuel from the earth

Muni Karen Morley and Vince Barnett who won instantaneous success in Scarface are together again in Black Fury Also in the cast are William Gargan Barton MacLane John Qualen J Carroll Naish Henry O'Neill Tully Marshall Mae Marsh and others

Tuesday through Thursday there will be two pictures on the bill one an out and-out comedy Brewster's Millions and the other a Jackie Cooper starring picture Dinky

Brewster's Millions based on the famous play of the same name narrates the troubles of a young man named Brewster who is compelled to get rid of half a million pounds in six months in order that he may inherit a much larger fortune Herbert Wilcox the producer turned the story into a lavish musical with Jack Buchanan and Lili Damita co featured Buchanan is an international stage and screen favorite

Mary Astor and Roger Pryor support Jackie Cooper in his story of a manly little chap whose widowed mother sends him to a military school located next to an orphanage in which he is eventually an inmate

Warren William Margaret Lindsay and Donald Woods are the main players in the Friday picture "The Case of the Curious Bride" which also will be shown at the Kiddies Safety club matinee Saturday at 10 a m It is a detective drama in which Perry Mason brilliant criminal lawyer and detective is called upon to clear the curious bride of the charge of murdering one of her husbands

POOR CROP REPORTS BOOST GRAIN PRICES

Expert Says Not More Than 30 Per Cent of North Dakota Wheat of Any Value.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Aug 3 — Prospects that millions of acres of domestic spring wheat will not be worth expense of threshing did much to put firmness into wheat markets today but week end profit taking tumbled prices at the last.

A leading authority said not more than 30 per cent of the North Dakota bread wheat crop will grade No 4 or better. Fears were expressed rains in Canada would accentuate development of rust.

DEDICATE MEMORIAL TO FOOTBALL STAR

Tribute Paid to George Gipp Notre Dame Star

By The Associated Press

LAURIUM Mich Aug 3 — Friends and classmates of The Gipper famous Notre Dame half back of 18 and 19 gathered today to dedicate a memorial to George Gipp.

Gipp All-American star died in a South Bend Ind hospital nearly 15 years ago as hundreds of his classmates knelt in the snow to pray. For here many years his body has lain in an unmarked grave here. But today his memory was honored with the dedication of George Gipp Memorial park a small park with a flower plot in the shape of a football.

Stories of his deeds have been retold until some sound fabulous. Some of those gathered here knew him as the local star athlete. He was better at basketball than either football or baseball in those days. Others were teammates in his college days.

20 TO ENLIST FOR CCC DUTY

Marion County Youths Will Go to Mansfield Monday For Enrollment.

Twenty Marion county youths will be enlisted in the Civilian Conservation Corps Monday in the last summer CCC enrollment.

The local quota of 20 has not yet been filled and Boyd Titsworth deputy CCC selecting agent here urges young men who wish to be enrolled to come to his office on the second floor at 160 North State street Monday between 8 and 8 30 a m to file their applications. The group will leave for Mansfield enrollment station for the Marion quota about 8 30 a m or shortly after.

Mr Titsworth said he expects to have the quota filled and also to form a group of alternates by the time he is ready to leave Monday. At the last enrollment he was able to have all accompanying alternates enrolled due to other counties not filling their quotas.

The present enlistment is the third in what is known as the fifth CCC enrollment. This probably will be the last under the fifth Mr Titsworth said and the sixth enrollment is scheduled to start the first part of September. Applications will be accepted throughout this month for the next enlistment.

Applicants must be from families on federal relief rolls between the ages of 18 and 28 unmarried and unemployed. The new enlistments have been made possible by the appropriation of funds for the continuance of the CCC from the huge works relief appropriation approved by congress in April.

The enrollment at Mansfield Monday will be under the supervision of Capt Charles H Brammell U S army of Akron. Quotas of nearby counties and their place of enlistment were not announced here today.

TROOPS WATCH POLLS AS KENTUCKY VOTES

Sent Into Coal Fields Area Where Previous Balloting Resulted in Bloodshed

By The Associated Press

FRANKFORT Ky Aug 3 One of the bitterest political campaigns in this state's history came to a head in a statewide primary election today with state troops marching into the southeastern Kentucky coal fields.

The troops presumably were sent to guard voting places in Harlan and Pike counties. Election days there in past years and sporadic attempts to unionize Harlan county miners have been marked by bloodshed.

Troops were sent to Harlan county in an election two years ago. Four years ago the county's vote was thrown out.

Gov Ruby Laffoon whose administration has been the storm center in the Democratic five-cornered fight for the nomination for governor was in a Lexington hospital today convalescing from an operation for appendicitis. He is not eligible for reelection.

MARION MAN SEEKS DIVORCE IN MEXICO

Papers Filed by Harland Sharp Received Here.

Word was received here today that Harland Sharp a former Marion resident has filed a petition for divorce in the Mexican courts against his wife Mrs Norma Sharp who is employed as housekeeper at the Marion County Children's home.

This information was received by Sheriff Fred F Miller in the form of a summons to be served on Mrs Sharp to appear in the civil court at Juarez Mexico within eight days from the time she is notified to answer the proceedings in the divorce action.

Virtually all of the contents of the divorce petition received from the Mexican court is in Spanish. Consequently the grounds given by Mr Sharp are not known.

Sheriff Miller said he expected to serve Mrs Sharp with the summons this afternoon. Mr Sharp is thought to have resided in Mexico for some time.
